You won't want to miss Australasia's 3rd mental health outcomes conference!

If you work in the mental health or addiction sectors, or if you are a carer, family or whanau member, or a consumer of mental health or addiction services, it's likely that you're involved in using, researching or reporting outcomes measurements to inform recovery. If not now, it's likely you will be in the future.

What to expect?

The 3rd Australasian Mental Health Outcomes Conference 2010 promises to engage your senses and feed your mind! Whether you're experienced, connected, curious or passionate, this conference will cover a spectrum of outcomes measurement-related topics from national and international perspectives:

- implementation of information: innovative approaches
- training for outcomes
- practice and outcome tools
- indigenous peoples and mental health information
- innovative use of information systems
- outcomes research
- service users and information
- reporting and information use.

Who should attend?

The conference is open to the mental health and addictions workforce (DHB, NGO and PHO), planners and funders, service users, tangata whaiora and whanau, carers, researchers, health officials, and the wider mental health and addictions sectors.
